DESCRIPTION

Entrance hall is at the side of the house and there is also a main door directly into the lounge/dining room. The kitchen is to the left (with doors to both the entrance hall and dining room) and the option to create one large open plan room is certainly there (as the wall is not supporting between the kitchen and dining room). At the back you have the garage which would take several cars plus storage and also another storage room with access to the large cellar below.

On the first floor, you have a large bedroom with a smaller room to the side which would be perfect as a dressing room and bathroom. The shower room and WC are opposite the stairs and then at the rear, another two very spacious bedrooms, one leading to the other.

The lovely staircase continues up to the attic which is also very convertible, if desired.

The house is on mains drains, the roof appears to be sound and walls have been beautifully pointed along the side and rear. However, the electrical system, heating and insulation are all to do and the windows are single glazed.
