IN BRIEF

This old and very pretty 3 bedroom stone property stands in a commanding and spectacular position above the tiny village of La Chapelle Saint Jean. The house, which is marked on the old Cadastra Napoléon map of 1812, has exposed period features such as original oak beams, stone sink with an 'oeil de boeuf' (carved stone elliptical window), rustic floor tiling throughout on the ground floor and oak wooden flooring upstairs. It also has a large fireplace with wood burner in a well-equipped kitchen and the house has 3 large luminous double French windows that open out onto a neat garden with mature trees and a swimming pool. The garden is well maintained and set out with a pool house to store equipment and has a covered dining area.
