IN BRIEF

A 17th-18th century house, already established and virtually unchanged since the cadastre Napoléon of 1836 thus an old and very pretty 3 bedroom stone longère périgordine that has been attractively restored inside, with hand painted baroque style wall patterns and carved moldings that gives it a provincial period feel and approximate epoch of the house. The property is separated from a hillside hamlet by its own garden wall, beyond which is the house and courtyard with a detached barn opposite and a nice sized garden that borders a neighbouring walnut orchard beyond. This is a perfect property for those seeking a touch of period living with exposed beams and large open plan rooms yet with lots of scope left to continue the current owners' projects in the barns and garden.
