IN BRIEF

This property of pleasing proportions is situated close to the banks of the Vézère and was once a farmhouse with a large tobacco barn in which the slats in the walls originally for aeration, can open in summer allowing sunlight to filter across the pool installed within. The house has a large, open plan, farmhouse kitchen and eating area, a studio flat with its own kitchen and a gite. This property is perfect either for a couple who want to run a small business or a family retreat in the country that can also be rented out.
