IN BRIEF

With the possibility of turning these 2 old stone houses into one house, this property would make an ideal permanent or holiday home. Some renovation work to the house on the left has been started with the construction of a new floor between the mezzanine area and ground floor, together with the formation of a cupboard to house the hot water tank, but this work would need completing, together with the rest of the renovation of the house and the total renovation of the other old house. Whilst there is no septic tank at the property at the moment, soil studies have been done to confirm that it is possible and a quote for the installation of the septic tank will be available. With the Atlantic coast being approximately half an hour away and the lovely market town of Pleyben being about 3kms away, his property is ideally...
