DESCRIPTION

The drive towards the village is breath-taking and when you walk through the gates into the grounds, the views that stretch out in front of you are idyllic.

You enter on to a gravel drive that can accommodate one vehicle. That drive leads into an opened part of the original barn which is currently used to store logs for the wood-burning stoves but could be easily converted into a covered parking area. There is also a large storage space above that can be accessed with a ladder.

Access to the main house is to the left and rear of the property, with its beautiful courtyard terraced area with a large pizza oven, an old stone animal trough, a pergola, and low stone walls, leading to many levels of south-facing land with panoramic views on the mountains.

To the right, you enter the area of the charming fully renovated barn with original chicken sheds, a big water tank, secure storage for bicycles, skis, and tools, and two large secluded gardens located on different levels and connected with stone steps and a wooden door. In the bottom garden, you can find a beautifully organized herb and vegetable garden. The top garden has mature cherry and apple trees, blueberries, raspberries, gooseberries, and redcurrants.

The property has been renovated yet retained many of the original features such as a wooden staircase and flooring, exposed beams, window and door frames, and stone walls. There are also fireplaces with mantels and an...
