IN BRIEF

Situated in a quiet cobbled street in the old part of this pretty medieval village, this character property offers approximately 69m2 of habitable space spread over 2 floors. It benefits from an enclosed courtyard off the main living space and spacious cellars underneath the property at street level giving the potential for additional living space or storage. The property requires extensive renovation works including the roof, but has enormous potential as a family home, holiday home or as an investment for rental. Some work has already been started but the layout of the house can be organised to suit your needs.

DESCRIPTION

The house currently comprises: at street level 2 cellars, one a lovely stone vaulted room which has already been restored and another with separate access.

The main living space is accessed up a short flight of stone steps where you enter into a kitchen/ dining room (17m²) with French doors onto the courtyard (22m²). There is a fireplace in the corner of this room and a staircase to the next floor. Also at this level 2 rooms which together are about 15m² and could be a living room with 2 windows.

Upstairs there are currently 2 large spaces (17.5m² and 19m²) which can be organised into bedrooms and bathrooms as you choose. There are French doors with a Juliette balcony overlooking the courtyard.

NOTES

This house has much character and charm and bags of potential. It needs lots of work but could make a really lovely home or holiday bolt hole.

The village of Le Pouget offers some shops, restaurants/bar, primary school and post office. It is situated between the towns of Clermont L'Herault and Gignac with all necessary shops, restaurants, cinema etc and a vibrant weekly market. Montpellier with it's international airport is 40kms and Beziers 54kms. The Mediterranean beaches are just 25kms.
