DESCRIPTION

This large, beautifully maintained farmhouse is accessed via a covered south-facing terrace. It is accessed via a hallway with an office, a shower room, and a separate toilet, followed by a staircase leading upstairs, as well as to the cellar, the kitchen, and the living room, also featuring a French window opening onto the front terrace.

From the living room, there is access to a small separate sitting room, then to a 50 m² living room with a French window opening onto the east facade of the property.

Upstairs, there are four generously sized bedrooms that are accessed via a central hallway.

From the kitchen, a second kitchen leads to the boiler room, with access via a staircase to the attic space (50 m²) and to the exterior of the property on the north facade.

The internal staircase descends to a large cave (44 m²), also accessible via a small external staircase.

Pretty gardens surround the property, featuring a well (which also has three water points), a barbecue area, a brick shed with a bread oven, a large shed and an adjoining barn with three stables, a boiler room housing the oil tank for the house's central heating, and space for machinery.

The plots are divided into three sections: large fields to the rear of the house, a separate wooded area to the southeast, and another agricultural plot to the northwest of the property, bordering Saint-Maur.
