NOTES

DESCRIPTION

Located in Plougasnou, this 1976 detached house sits a few hundred meters from the sea, set back from the road on a plot of about 895 m² (0.22 acres) mainly laid to mature garden.[]

With approximately 87 m² of habitable space (around 936 sq ft), it offers true ground-floor living and good potential for updating as a main home or holiday property.[]

On the ground floor, the entrance hall leads to a tiled living/dining room of about 26 m² (around 280 sq ft), a tiled kitchen of about 10 m² (around 108 sq ft), a separate WC, a tiled bathroom of about 5 m² (around 54 sq ft) with bath and washbasin, and a bedroom of about 10.4 m² (around 112 sq ft) with carpet, allowing comfortable single-level living.[]

Upstairs, a landing serves two attic bedrooms with wooden floors, of approximately 10 m² and 14 m² floor area (around 108 sq ft and 151 sq ft), ideal for family or guests.[]

The main ground-floor rooms (living room, entrance, kitchen, bathroom and WC) are tiled, the downstairs bedroom is carpeted, and the two upstairs bedrooms have wooden floors, giving the first floor a warm feel.[]

The house is currently heated by an oil-fired boiler, with original single-glazed wooden windows and limited insulation, so modernisation works will be needed but will also allow the next owners to tailor the property to their requirements.[]

House connected to the mains drainage system.
