IN BRIEF

A massive renovation project, hidden on a private road in the very centre of the beautiful village of École in the magnificent massif des Bauges national park. This two-building property was the home to generations of master blacksmiths with 1 ancient forge and a second larger forge in a separate building. The buildings form a private courtyard with the private road entrance named after the master blacksmiths, "des maîtres de forge"

The main building has a large 140m2, 3-bedroom house in need of renovation, with oil fired central heating and a huge stone vaulted cellar accessible via a trap door in the kitchen. The attic can be converted with 2 window openings already in place. The whole building is in sound condition and the roof was replaced in 2003 along with all the mains services.
