DESCRIPTION

Charm, authenticity and serenity in the heart of the Charente countryside.

In a peaceful setting with no overlooking neighbours, this magnificent Charentaise property impresses from the moment you arrive, with its large gate opening onto a flower-filled courtyard, surrounded by a beautiful stone longhouse and two large barns with exposed stone façades.

A place steeped in history, where old-world charm blends with quality features.

Fully renovated, with the roof redone in 2021, the main longhouse offers approximately 175 m² of living space and a bright, welcoming interior facing due south.

The spacious, tastefully fitted kitchen (five-burner hob, extractor hood, double electric ovens) opens onto a convivial 28 m² dining room with exposed beams and generous openings onto the terrace. Extending from this, a character-filled 37 m² living room features a fireplace with wood-burning stove, stone walls and a solid walnut cupboard, creating a warm and relaxing atmosphere.

A hallway with original wooden flooring leads to four attractive bedrooms.

The first, 16 m², enjoys a lovely view over the garden; the second, 18 m², is currently used as an office; the third, approximately 18 m², benefits from a private shower room; and the fourth, 24 m², has its own independent entrance, exposed beams and a large shower room with WC.

A utility room, a separate WC and a preserved former entrance complete the property.

The house benefits from double-glazed windows, enhanced roof insulation as well as insulation to the cellar beneath the house, in addition to the natural insulation provided by the remarkably thick...
