DESCRIPTION

The house is approached through a beautiful stone archway, leading you down a cobbled lane to the property, which sits centrally within the hamlet with adjoining village houses. Offering approximately 45 m² of living space, the house also benefits from two south-facing terraces with lovely open views:

- a generous ground-floor terrace of around 30 m², ideal for outdoor dining and with a small shelter to store wood or bikes.
- a more intimate partly covered first-floor terrace of approximately 14 m², perfect for enjoying the sunshine and scenery.

On the ground floor, you enter into an unusual stone-vaulted living room featuring a wood-burning stove. This leads through to a nice light kitchen with dining area, which opens directly onto the main terrace. There is also a useful storeroom on this level.

A ladder-style staircase leads to the first floor, where you'll find a large bedroom with a mezzanine area providing additional storage, along with a shower room with WC. French doors open from the bedroom onto the upper terrace, allowing you to fully appreciate the views and the peaceful surroundings.

The property is habitable as it is, but would benefit from some refurbishment and updating, offering an excellent opportunity to enhance its charm and value.
