NOTES

DESCRIPTION

To one side of the property is a dedicated boiler room housing the central heating system, while to the other side a large garage offers excellent storage, washing machine, and the possibility of a mezzanine. Upstairs, the property boasts a generous principal bedroom complete with dressing area and its own shower room with WC. In addition, there are two further attic spaces offering exciting conversion potential (subject to the necessary permissions).

The gardens have been sympathetically landscaped over the years. The terraced area flows naturally from the patio, creating an attractive and usable outdoor space. A well is located on the lower level of the garden.

To the right of the house, a lawned area includes a prepared sand base for a children's pool and benefits from welcome shade during the warmer months. Opposite the property, a separate parcel of land provides an excellent opportunity for a vegetable patch or additional outdoor project.
