DESCRIPTION

Located in a quiet residential setting, this remarkable 18th-century property enjoys breathtaking mountain views and an enviable position surrounded by approximately 1,350 m² of mature, tree-filled grounds. Bathed in sunshine throughout the day, the property offers a rare combination of tranquility, privacy, and proximity to the amenities of Briançon.

With approximately 400 m² of existing living space, a 103 m² convertible attic, and five impressive vaulted stone cellars, the property presents an outstanding opportunity for restoration and redevelopment. Rich in authentic architectural features, the building offers the potential to showcase original timber beams, exposed stone walls, and beautifully restored terraced gardens, creating a unique blend of historic character and modern comfort.

Whether envisioned as an exceptional private family residence, a multi-generational home, or a boutique development for resale, the possibilities are extensive. A fully approved building permit is already in place for the creation of three separate apartments, providing a clear framework for investors and developers alike.

Significant preparatory works have already been completed, including deep drainage, structural reinforcement, external insulation, and the installation of four new water meters. These substantial investments have secured the building's foundations and streamlined the path toward future renovation and development.

Properties of this scale, character, and potential are rarely offered to the market. Combining stunning alpine views, historic charm, and considerable development opportunities, this is a truly exceptional project in one of the most attractive areas of the Southern Alps.
