DESCRIPTION

Occupying a prominent position beneath the arcades of the medieval village square, this period stone house offers approximately 233m² of accommodation arranged over three floors, together with a private courtyard, dual access and an exceptional roof terrace.

The west-facing façade overlooks the attractive central square, the historic heart of the village and a focal point of daily life. Cafés, local services and community events are all within easy reach, creating an atmosphere that is both vibrant and authentically Gascon. To the rear, impressive gates open from a quieter side street into a private courtyard, providing practical access and a level of convenience rarely associated with village-centre properties.

The ground floor comprises a generous sitting room with fireplace, a separate dining room, a large fitted kitchen, entrance hall and WC. The layout provides comfortable and adaptable living space, equally suited to everyday life, entertaining or extended stays with family and friends.

The first floor accommodates two spacious double bedrooms, two bathrooms and an additional reception room currently used as a TV room. This versatile space could also serve as a home office, library, studio or occasional fourth bedroom.

On the second floor is a further double bedroom, an additional bathroom and a laundry room, together with access to the property's standout feature: a roof terrace of approximately 33m². Rare for a village-centre home, this private outdoor space enjoys elevated south-easterly views across the river valley and surrounding countryside, creating an ideal setting for outdoor dining, relaxing or entertaining throughout...
